Child Identification Program kits to be made available

National Child Identification Program Kits were provided to all school districts in by "Speak Up Speak Out Wisconsin", a community service initiative dedicated to reducing the number of missing children. The kit allows parents to collect specific information and record the child's physical characteristics and fingerprints of their children on identification cards that are to be confidentially kept at home by the parents or guardian. If ever needed, this ID Kit will give authorities vital information to assist their efforts in locating a missing child. Kits will be made available for pick up at the TMS front office.
